PROJECTS

Podcloud - A podcast streaming platform inspired by soundcloud, built using React.js and Rails.
- Interfaces with the iTunes search API via AJAX on the frontend. Allowing for a simple user experience when looking for the favorite podcasts.
- Utilizes an XML feed parsing library on the backend to turn iTunes data into objects that can be manipulated in the database and used interactively by the user on the frontend.
- Implements cloud storage using Paperclip and AWS S3, allowing us to persist data through git in a production environment.
- Leverages the component hierarchy in React to maintain an uninterrupted user interface.
- Optimizes database queries by incorporating prefetching of relational data on the backend.
